on. Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, in answer to a patoria. equest to lecture before the Mercantile Library Association of Boston:

Association of Boston:

ONLY, user Onancock, Va., Nov. 11, 1855.

GENTLEMEN: Yours of the 2d instant was awaiting my arrival at home yesterday, from a temporary absence at Washington City.

1 gratefully acknowledge the compliment of your invitation to deliver one of a course of lectures, during the present winter, before the Mcreantile Library Association of Boston.

Lam well assured of the highly respectable charcantile Library Association of Boston.

I am well assured of the highly respectable character and of the laudable objects of your Literary association, and nobody of the kind could have been more honored than you have been by the illustrious orators and statesmen who have shed upon your lectures the light of their great minds. I have no doubt, too, of the "cordial welcome" I would receive from "very many" of your hospitable citizens; but it is not in my power, gentlemen, to accept your invitation. The situation of my private affairs, and the duty of preparing, for months to come, for new scenes of public service, will engress all my time and attention the whole of the coming winter. I have been compelled to decline citizens; but it is not in my power, gentlemen, to accept your invitation. The situation of my private affairs, and the duty of preparing, for months to come, for new scenes of public service, will engross all my time and attention the whole of the coming winter. I have been compelled to decline every call of the came kind from many quarters in my own State, and other States besides yours.

I sincerely regret this, the more, because I have never yet set my foot on the beioved soil of that portion of my country called New England. This has not been owing to any antagonism on my part towards that favored section. Massachusetts, especially, I have been taught to vonerate and cherish as the elder sister of Virginia. When I reflect upon their attitudes and relations in the darkness and gloom of the night of Revolution; when I listen to their hails, sister to sister—Virginia to Massachusetts, Massachusetts to Virginia—in the "discassion of the country of the stout Russian seamen, who conducted the Emperor up to the gate of Kishawa man to the most predigious of the strengthening of which the most predigious of forts are being made and their guas conveyed the intermining of which the most predigious of forts are being made and their guas conveyed the strengthening of which the most predigious of forts are being made on all sides. The first are designed and their guas conveyed the intermining of which the most predigious of forts are being made on all sides. The position of our army in the Crimea is one of very great strength, and Prince Gortschakoff has made such dispositions as will enable him to offer an effectual resistance to any operations on the part of the enemy. He occupies a very commanding position, extending from the northern forts as far as the town of Simpheropol, his advanced posts being thrown out on the one side to the Another Boston Lecture Committee.

As the movement of the enemy from the Banas Valley ended in a retreat, in consequence of the advance of our left wing as far as Albar, so, too, the demonstrations undertaken from Eupatoria have, up to the present moment, been attended with no result, by reason of the fear that his left flank has been too much menaced by us. Thus placed, we await the future without anxiety, being richly supplied with provisious and all such necessaries as we are likely to require during the coming winter. winter.

There are none North, except the old line Dem ocrats, few and far between, who are not violently opposed to the Nebraska bill, and resolved that no State formed out of the Territory embraced in that bill shall be admitted into the Union with a Constitution recognizing slavery. The Democrats North and South are uncompromising against the whole Abolition movement. How the Know-Nothings South will be found remains to be scen-They profess to be very Southern, but their affiliation with their Northern allies, the excuses they make for them, and their absurd claims as to the nationality of such men as Gardner and the New York Know-Nothings, show that they cannot be relied on as uncompromising on behalf of the South. Their affiliation in this city, at a public mass meeting, with two notorious Freesoilers, is exceedingly suspicious.

The telegraphic dispatches, moreover, give ont very significant hints that the different factions will unite upon the general scheme of opposition equally dark colored Know-Nothings in the free States, and probably the Samites of the South, will be found in happy fellowship, joined together by the cohesive power of public plunder.

The precise number of Democrats in the House we do not know, but it does not exceed eighty. It will be a compact body, however, with no compromises to make. Its creed, as far as the only real issue now is concerned, 1s, that the Kansas-Nebraska bill shall stand, and any State hereafter shall come into the Union with or without slavery, as the people may choose. The telegraph furnishes us a lie, as usual, in reporting that some Democrats intend to bolt if a cancus makes this policy a test. The test has already been made; no Democrat was elected on any other issue. He who wishes to ignore the test now, will have notice has mistaken his party.

The Democrats are right; they occupy the position of the founders of this government, and in the present emergency it is vain to consult policy and expediency. They formish uo substantial and unerring guide. They will fail when the trial comes. Let every Democrat stand firmly in the right, and compromise with no faction for spolls. The present Congress misrepresents the country. It was elected, in a great part, in the midst of a temporary excitement. Its members owe their seats to an insane furor, to secret machinatious, to frauds, rascality, terror, and bloodshed. It is unworthy of public confidence. Let sound and patriotic men preserve the even tenor of their way, make no compromises, and appeal to the countryhave yet no fears of the result. The reaction has already taken place; the country sees the mistake after, as follows: that has been committed, and popular elections now would clear Congress of its vicious elements by a larger majority than that which placed them

The country expects uo good of the present Congress. The folly and fanaticism of the Lower contains an overwhelming majority of Democrats. It has been well said, that the sum of all trne religiou consists in the love of God and our neighbor. Christiauity teaches men to "love their euemies" and to "do good to those who despitefully use them." But Know-Nothings, breaking through all the admonitions and restraints of that very religion which they profess to respect and cherish, says-"Love your friends (your party) and hate your enemies" (your political opponeuts). These teachings and doctrines are carried out in blood and slaughter with an utter disregard of consequences. And then, forsooth, we have lessons on morality and religiou from their pious organs, and are gravely admonished not to forget that there is a God to the Democratic party. Black Republicans, and above, a reverence for whom alone, we are told can save a nation from anarchy and disorder.

With what the editor of the Journal says, in his sermon on Thanksgiving day, in reference te cherishing a sense of reliauce on a higher power, we fully agree. But when the apologists and defenders of the Know-Nothing mobs that have disgraced this and other cities, appear so solicitons lest the nation should forget God, we are reminded of an anecdote concerning the Lord Chancellor Thurlow and Wilkos, of the Commous. As our recollection serves us, during the latter part of the reign of George III .- when the King's health and faculties were waning and the Regency question was being mocted in Parliament-the Lord Chancellor was ardent in professions of devotion to the King, and at the same time was wont to keep in with the Regency party that his room is better than his company; that he by privately seconding their views. Linn Boyd.—Anything that we might say name heads this article, would be an act of super rerogation, for his historyis known to the country, and his services have been appreciated and applauded by his constituency. But in contemplation of the choice of the Democracy of Kentucky (who assemble in Convention at Frankfort on the Sth of January next) of a standard-bearer in the contest of '56, it might not be inappropriate to diect their attention to the services and claims of this gentleman for the nomination. In looking over the catalogue of statesmen, who have embodied and handed down to the present generation the pure principles of Democracy, none can be found in all the throes of party agitation, and in all the relief of the pure principles of the pure principles of party agitation, and in the pure principles of party agitation, and in the pure principles of party agitation, and in the pure pure present the pure party agitation. all the splits of party organizaton, who more firmly adhered to and more fearlessly and ally advocated the principles of the national Democracy, than the and the demagogue from the old settled princi-ples of the Democracy, but Col. Beyd has nover

Of late a new party sprung into existence, and with rapid strides threatened to overrun the country, and a pack of hungry office seekers yelped after it in eager hasto to touch the hem of its garment and stand purified of their former political putridity, claiming the suffrages of the people.

Col. Boyd, we assert without fear of contradic-tion, can show as clean a political history as any man in the Union. He has ever been a sound and national Democrat, and whilst maintaining the principle of State sovereignty held by that party, and representing a southern people in Congress, he has opposed and repudiated any feeling that had a tendency to engender sectional preju-dice. He is, and has ever been a Union man, and vices of Col. Boydto this people. They know his history and will unite with the Democracy of Kentucky in rewarding those services with the honors they deserve. Col. Boyd stands prominent before Kentucky, and with its nomination will go before the National Democracy with more chances of the nomination for the Presidency than any

THE COMING CONGRESS.—Congress meets on uncott Monday week, and all eyes are turned, with intense interest, to the proceedings and acts of that body. Never, in the history of our country, has there been a deeper interest felt in, or more fearful forebodings created about the actions of our National Legislature, than that now manifest among the people from one end of the Union to the other. Every true patriot looks forward to the deliberations of the approaching Congress with doubts and fears. Black and threatening clouds of fanaticism and nullification have arisen in our Northern horizon, and hang dark and lowering over Northern horizon, and hang dark and lowering over our happy confederacy, which will require pure hearts, stern patriotism, and sound judgments to roll back; but it will be done.

At the helm of State stands a man in whom there is no guile—no wavering. With a Roman firmness, excelled alone by that of the immortal Jackson, Franklin Pierce stands an impregnable bulwark and barrier against all the assaults of fanatthe intrigues of factions; secure in the right, they need court up factions, secure in the right, they need court up factions, and make up compromise of principle or object. Our readers may look out fer rich developments next week in the jugglery of factious.

requiring a full and feithful compliance with its stipulctions and provisions. The Constitution must stand, as an oternal pillar of strength to our Union, or it must fall and burst as under the bonds that bind together our glorious Union. If the Southern delegates form a unit in the House, there is no danger to be apprehended, but if the Know-Nothing delegates from the Southenter into a time-string, temporaring realize with their Northern serving, temporizing policy with their Northern Know-Nothing and Black Republican allies, most

The President's message will be looked for with great eagerness, as the tone and spirit of that important document will have a powerful effect, for good er evil, upon the political affairs of the country; and we now predict that it will be everything that any true patriot could wish or desire. OUR RAILROAD. - A proposition having heer submitted some time past to the city of Louisville, to subscribe the sum of $200,000 to the capital stock of the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad, in view of the vast importance the road would be to Louisville, could thore be an unbroken com-munication between the mouth of Big Sandy and Louisville, by this road, the Lexington and Frank-fort, and the Louisville and Frankfort road; said proposition was not permitted to go before the people, for them to vote upon, by the anthorities of that city. This being the case, the propriety of opening a direct cemmunication with some other city either in this or out of this State, has become matter of serious consideration and advis with the railroad company, as well as the friend of the road. The whole matter will undoubtedl come up at the next meeting of the Board of Di-rectors, and be finally disposed of. While we would regret very much to see the immense pro-duction and trade of the vast region of rich country through which this road runs, go to any other city than Louisville, which we firmly believe, with Mr. Wise, one of the Directors, would have benefitted her more in one year than the subscriptio asked for by the railroad company, we, at the sam time, are decidedly of the opinion that if Louisvill cels she can do without us, we can very well de without her, and should have no objection what ever to take aid from any other quarter.

Necessaries of Life.

out is not a necessary. The proverb, then, is a false-hood. But one of HARRIS'S Dagurreotypes-bright, sparkling, rich, beld, and clear—which we can get and cannot do without—that is a necessary of life. not3 Our Photographs Defy all Competition.

And if any one thinks there is humbug in the assertion let them call at our Rooms and examine the speelmens let them call at our Rooms and examine the specimens on exhibition, and they will be fully satisfied that what we say is correct. The process by which our Photograph Pictures are made and colored is different from that of other operators, and for this reason we can guarantee finer Portraits than can be had elsewhere.

ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTIC.

LATER FROM ENGLAND. NEW YORK, NOV. 30. The Collins steamer Atlantic, with regular dates from England, arrived this evening.

Tho late dispatch from the seat of war, reports officially from Lord Stratford De Redeliffs, that a victory was gained Nov. 5th, by Omar Pasha—over 10,000 Russians—mostly Georgian militia, at the river Ingour, which river Omar Pasha crossed with 20,000 Turks at four points, taking 60 prisoners and 3 guns-400 killed and wounded. The Turks lost 300.

A private dispatch evidently referring to the A private dispatch evidently referring to the same encounter, says the Turks crossed the river Onakava, and stormed the Russian redoubts, after which they pushed forward towards Kutais.

Kars is still besieged, and every appearance indicates that the Russians will retire to Tiflis.

Nothing from the Crimea; only a few ships remain at Dneiper. The bulk of the fleets are returning to Constantitople.

Peace rumers are extremely prevalent. A vague diplomacy is active, especially at Stockholm, Vionna, and Brussels.

The Paris Exposition is closed. Twelve thousand prizes, including numerous decerations of the Eagle of Honor, were distributed.

Texas Western Railroad in Connection with the Southern Pacific Railway. On the 12 instant Major Robert H. Armstrong presented to the Logislature at Nashville the following preamble and resolutions:

"Whereas, it is of the first consequence to the State of Tennessee that the great Atlantic and Pacific Railroad thoroughfare should pass through her territory; and whereas, it is believed by the General Assembly that the projected route, known as the southern route through Texas, is not only the nearest and most practicable, but that it may contribute to effect the aforesaid object; therefore, bait

On the 16th inst., the Committee on Internal Improvements, through their Chairman, Mr. Brown, made report.

This report is an able document, embodying many facts and arguments in favor of the immediate construction of the work; it is too lengthy for insertion, but we cannot let it pass without making an extract:

"How is this road connected with Tennessee, and why are Tennesseeans more deeply interested in this ronte than most of her sister States? The Eastern terminus of this road is properly at Corsicanns, Texas, as that is the branching point for either New Orleans, Vicksburg, Memphis or St. Louis. From Corsicanna the road runs to Fulton, to Little Rock, and from thence to Memphis, the great cotton emporium of the Southwest, thus making the principal branch—practically the terminus of this great natural thoroughfare—at Memphis, in our State, and there connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the entire system of rajiroads in Tennessee, and running through the State, connecting with the continuous to improve until restored to perfect health.

"No commercial project in the world ever did or can offer such a prospect of business and profits. The Pacific coast will soon be filled with busy millions of moving, traveling, trading inhabitants. The millions then lying west, and beyond the weet, with the millions that each of the west, with the millions that are the second that the second the weet, with the millions that are the second that the second the second the second that the second the second that the se with the millions on the east, will travel this road.

The commerce and trade of the United States, with much from Europe, India, and other distant nations, will pass over this great artery of trade and travel. A large portion of all this commerce and travel will pass through Tennessee on our railroad routes, or be discharged and distributed at the city of Memphis. This immense amount of commerce will give Memphis her hundred thousand inhabitants, with weather exceeding any city and travel. A large portion of all this commerce and travel will pass through Tennessee on our railroad routes, or be discharged and distributed at the city of Memphis. This immense amount of commerce will give Memphis her hundred thous and inhabitants, with wealth exceeding any city of the South; and these commercial advantages will be diffused and telt throughout the State—the citizens will realize these vivifying influences and travel, with their attendant advantages, foreshadowed to Tennessee cannet now be computed. Tennessee alone, however, is not to be the recipient of all the blessings to flow from the building the world's highway; our whole country will share in this proeperity. The wilderness will be subdued, agriculture quadrupled; mines opened, and the great natural resources developed. This country will be the granary of the world; the canvas of her commerce will be upon every sea; while the smoke fram her manufactories and workshops will commingle, and hammer will respond to hammer, from the rising to the setting sun of our great Republic.

MONS. J. P. LASSERRE RESPECTIf fully informs his friends, and the public in general that he will open his Dancing School at the above Hailon SATURDAY NEXT, Sept. 29th, for misses and maskrs, from 9 to 12 o'clock A. M., and 2 to 6 P. M. Class for genies every Monday and Wednesday excains, from 6 to 9 clock.

Conecount of objections from a great number of pupils eretefore, religious difficulties are removed by forming two classes.

J. L. thinks it nnnecessary to mention all by Danes and Waltzes he will teach in his school. The great number of pupils he has taught in this city for the list ten years is the best recommendation he can offer. Notwithstanding all the Fancy Daness and Waltzs J. P. L. Is acquainted with, he takes pleasure in stang that on his visit to the South he has met with his frind Pingally Drisk, from the Opera of Paris, and when ere the principal Dancer of Placide's Varieties. Through his kindness J. P. L. has come in possession of the lost recent Dances, viz:

Gritiza—Five-Step Waltz.

Arsovien—Hungarian Redowa.

Nw Polka Redowa.

Nw Schottische.

Ladie and gentlemen wishing to Join the class are invited apply at the commencement.
